MIAMI BEACH, FL
ANNUAL MEETING
24TH
The 24th Annual Meeting of the ACDS is a full day focused on current issues in allergic, irritant, occupational and other dermatoses. Presentations include oral and poster presentations on state-of-the-art research in the basic, applied and clinical science of contact dermatitis.

NEEDS STATEMENT
Contact dermatitis/inflammatory skin disease is an evolving scientific field that requires periodic updates on its advances.

PURPOSE
This conference is intended to bring physicians and industry professionals together to acquire awareness, knowledge and skills in contact dermatitis for the exchange of information about the basic, applied, and clinical science of contact dermatitis and the skin.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES
Upon completion of this CME activity, participants should be able to:

- Recognize the results of current and evolving research in the areas of contact, irritant, occupational and other dermatoses including food allergies
- Update their knowledge about recent advances in the diagnosis, management, and treatment of allergic, irritant and occupational skin diseases;
- Review and interpret basic knowledge and skills pertaining to epicutaneous patch testing;
- Integrate patch testing standards to improve the selection of allergen testing for patients.
- Integrate new principles to improve their everyday practice of dermatology.

AUDIENCE
The primary target audience of the American Contact Dermatitis Society's Annual Meeting is its members. Secondary audiences for the meeting include dermatology residents, basic scientists, non-member dermatologists, allergists, patch test coordinators, researchers, and industry personnel.

THEME
The theme of the 24th Annual Meeting of the ACDS is Setting the Standard.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

PRE-MEETING BREAKFAST
Dr. Andrew Scheman will update members on the ACDS CAMP program including a “how to use” session.

ROUNDTABLE LUNCHEON
The 2013 Annual Meeting will again include a Luncheon which will feature the 4th Annual Contact Allergen Bee. Space will be limited; be sure to sign up. The Luncheon Session is supported by an unrestricted educational grant from Chemotechnique/Dormer. Session is included with registration but requires a ticket.

4TH CONTACT ALLERGEN BEE
We are pleased to announce the 4th Contact Allergen Bee, a contest for dermatology residents sponsored by Dermatitis. Winners will be awarded up to at least $1,000.

The contest will be held Thursday, February 28, 2013 during the annual meeting of the American Contact Dermatitis Society (ACDS).

How to participate? Have either your residency director or a faculty member in your program who is an ACDS member submit your name, e-mail address, and phone number to ponciano.cruz@utsouthwestern.edu no later than January 18, 2013. You must be a resident in good standing at the time of the contest (previous non-winning contestants may rejoin the contest). Entries are limited to TWO representatives per program.

The contest will have 2 phases: a qualifying round at 10:15 am consisting of written multiple choice items; and a final round at 12:15 pm in front of the meeting audience. Content of all questions is based on papers published in Dermatitis in 2009, 2010, 2011, and 2012. Upon receipt of your official entry, your program will have electronic access to all relevant issues of Dermatitis.

Please direct questions and entries to Chito Cruz at ponciano.cruz@utsouthwestern.edu. We look forward to your participation and potential coronation as King or Queen Bee!

FISHER LECTURER
The American Contact Dermatitis Society is pleased to announce that the 2013 Alexander Fisher Lecturer is Erin Warshaw, MD – a past president of the ACDS.

Erin received her undergraduate degree from Newcomb College of Tulane University in New Orleans, LA where she received a prestigious 4-year academic Presidential Scholarship. Following graduation, she traveled and studied alternative medicine for a year in India and England on a Thomas J. Watson Fellowship. Her medical school training was supported by an academic 4-year Robert J. Woodruff Fellowship to Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta, GA where she also completed her internship and dermatology residency. She served as chief resident during her last year of residency as well as director of the Emory University Dermatology Patch Test Clinic.

Dr. Warshaw joined the staff at the Minneapolis VA Medical Center and University of Minnesota in 1996. She served as chief of the dermatology section at the Minneapolis VA until 2001 when she began a 3-year clinical research career development award from the VA. She has been co-director of the University of Minnesota’s training program for patch testing since 1996.

Dr. Warshaw also runs the dermatology clinical research unit at the Minneapolis VA. She holds a number of VA and investigator-initiated grants in the areas of teledermatology, cutaneous fungal diseases, allergic contact dermatitis, and seborrheic dermatitis. She is currently completing a Master’s Degree in Clinical Research from the University of Minnesota.

She has served on the Board of Directors for the American Contact Dermatitis Society, including as president, and on various committees including the editorial board of Dermatitis. She was instrumental in ACDS creating its Standard Series of Allergens.

The Alexander Fisher Lectureship is awarded in honor of Alexander Fisher, MD in recognition of his contributions to the field of contact dermatitis. The lecturer is selected by committee based on his or her contributions to contact dermatitis, reflection of the spirit of Dr. Fisher’s enthusiasm for the subject of contact dermatitis, and for sharing knowledge and experience in evaluating patients.
