

Katherine K. Brown, MD
Radnor, PA

Current Position(s):

Associate Professor of Clinical Dermatology, University of Pennsylvania
School of Medicine

Medical School:

Stanford University School of Medicine Medical School; 2006

Residency Program:

Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine; 2010

Board Certification:

American Board of Dermatology Certification

ACDS Activities:

ACDS Fall Meeting and Virtual Events Committee - 2021-present

ACDS Maibach and Poster Award Committee - 2018-present

ACDS Education Committee - 2014-2018 (past Chair)

ACDS Bylaws Committee - 2018-2020 (past Chair)

Other Professional Activities:

American Academy of Dermatology - Access to Dermatologic Care Committee 2017-2019

Professional Appointments, Awards and Honors:

Phi Beta Kappa; 2001

Women's Dermatological Society Mentorship Award; 2009

Candidate Statement:

While maintaining a contact dermatitis clinic for 11 years within an academic dermatology practice, I continue to see access to diagnostic patch testing and the expertise required to successfully manage allergic skin disease as the main concern facing our subspecialty. As an ACDS Board member, I would bring my experience from the AAD Access Committee and from the four ACDS Committees I've served on to address barriers to access and other challenges ahead.