

Alison Ehrlich, MD MHS
Washington, DC

Current Position(s):

Foxhall Dermatology and Metroderm
Principal investigator for Foxhall Research Center

Medical School:

George Washington University Medical Center Medical School; 1996

Residency Program:

Kansas Medical Center Residency; 2000

Board Certification:

2000, recertification-2019 Certification; 2030

ACDS Activities:

Research Committee Chair; 2020-present
Mid-Year Meeting, Chair; 2017
ACDS Education Committee Chair-2013-14
Program Committee Chair; 2010-2011
Long Range Planning Committee Chair; 2006-2008
Board of Directors; 2006-2009

Other Professional Activities:

American Academy of Dermatology, Fellow
Women's Dermatologic Society, member
Noah Worcester Society, member
ALSMS & ASDS, Fellow
American Dermatological Association, member

Professional Appointments, Awards and Honors:

Scientific Committee Co-Chair, Atlantic Dermatology 2005; 2004-06
Secretary/Treasurer Washington DC Dermatological Society; 2009-2010
Vice-President Washington DC Dermatological Society; 2010-2011
President DC Dermatological Society; 2011-2012
Program Chair for Atlantic Dermatological Meeting, D.C.; 2011-2013
Scientific Advisory Board Asthma and Allergy Foundation; 2014-present
Deputy Chair, AAD Access to Care Committee; 2015-2016
Board of Directors of Women's Dermatology Society; 2017-present
Chair, AAD Access to Care Committee 2017; 2017-2019
Editorial Advisory Board-Dermatitis-2019-present
ACDS Presidential Citation-2018 for chairing Midyear ACDS meeting
Volunteer Physician appointment, NIH/NIAMS; 2020

Candidate Statement:

I oversaw the GW patch testing and dermatology clinical research for 17 years. In 2019, I joined a private practice and moved my patch test clinic. My research focus includes allergic contact dermatitis, psoriasis and atopic dermatitis. I have served as PI on 36 clinical trials and have 68 publications.

I am passionate that the ACDS must promote the mission of education and innovation. I am honored to be asked to run for the President-Elect position and would enthusiastically serve our society.